

AIR AGE TERMED LABOR-BAIT AIDE

ALBANY, Feb. 23 (AP)—Democratic leaders who heard Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker address the New York legislature last night said today that his address "lent aid and comfort to the labor-baiting forces of this country."

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and legislative leaders received telegrams from Leo J. Andrae, international vice president of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, district 3 (CIO), demanding that labor have the same opportunity to address the legislature to reply to Rickenbacker.

Rep. Solinger, a Democrat, said Rickenbacker as a "warrior and industrial leader" had said his "verbal condemnation of labor because of its indifference to the war effort" was "a labor-baiting force of this country."

Rickenbacker told the joint legislative session that "you cannot demand that the mass of common folk shall take up arms to win the war if the aristocracy of labor unionism is thinking only of more money and more power and the intricate clique of bureaucracy is thinking only of a fourth term."

"Any administration that takes example of unity, any administration that talks of equality of sacrifice must honestly mean sacrifice and not sacrifice by the name for the financial and political advantage of the few."

Without mentioning President Roosevelt by name, he said the phrase, "equality of sacrifice," which the president has used, was "false and demagogic," a hollow mockery.

Rickenbacker said "a storm of protest" had been raised against his remarks by the labor union, which he said was "granted to the labor racketeer, the labor architect, and the labor leader."

Pilot Wallace Hopkins Sends Four to Safety, Dies Himself

There was room in the rescue ship for four of the five members of the crew of a plane forced down in Puget sound, 14 miles from the shore.

Wallace W. Hopkins, former resident of Twin Falls and pilot in command of the ship, ordered the other four into the boat, and told them to wait the arrival of another patrol boat. When the second rescue ship arrived there was no sign of Wallace or the plane in which he had waited. He was first listed as missing, but the navy has notified his relatives that he is now considered dead.

Hopkins, 23, chief aviation pilot, had been in the navy about six years. He served four years in the Hawaiian Islands and was then ordered to Pensacola, as an instructor. He was transferred to Seattle Feb. 6, spent Sunday together, and Hopkins was reported missing the next morning.

He attended Twin Falls schools and was a member of the Presbyterian church here. In addition to his wife and daughter, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hopkins, Klamath Falls; two sisters, Mrs. John H. Parkinson, Jerome, and Miss Betty Hopkins, Klamath Falls; and a brother, Jack G. Hopkins, chief machanic's mate, U. S. GLENN'S FERRY, Feb. 23—Many friends gathered to pay final tribute to Mrs. Mary Serilda McSherry, 52, wife of U. D. McSherry, at funeral services conducted at the Methodist church.

GANDHI CONDITION GROWING WEAKER

NEW DELHI, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mahatma K. Gandhi, leader in the project against his detention by British authorities, passed a quiet day yesterday and slept several hours, although he is growing "progressively weaker," dispatches from Poona said.

A government communique issued at Bombay said: "There is no appreciable change to report." The communique, signed by the six doctors attending the Indian leader, said he had "only broken sleep during the night but dined off and on during the day" yesterday. He appears to be comfortable, it said.

The crisis, caused by his six months confinement in the palace of Aya Khan and his sudden decision to fast as his method of protest, it became apparent he might die if the fast is not ended soon.

Prayers for a long life for the aged nationalist leader and for his unconditional release were offered at numerous places of worship throughout India.

In London, the News Chronicle, in an editorial, said Gandhi was dying in captivity and asked Prime Minister Churchill to free him "as the only way to the end of the war."

"If Gandhi dies in detention, India will never forgive us," the newspaper said.

BROOKLYN, PHILADELPHIA OPEN HUNT FOR NEW MANAGERS

SPORTS

Camilli May Get Top Post

By HAROLD CLASSEN
NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—With the rubins already scanning the want ads for summer homes, two National Guard baseball clubs still are busy studying the same pages for 1943 managers.

Brooklyn officials slipped to the help-wanted columns today after being informed that Manager Leo Durocher's selective service board had ordered him to appear for induction next Monday.

The new owners of the Philadelphia Phillies have been hunting for a manager since they took over the club last Friday and aren't certain they can make a choice until Thursday.

Leaders Away
The Durocher announcement was made while the Philadelphia Phillies were vacationing in Florida and Branch Rickey, president of the club, was in California.

Neither made any definite comment, except that Rickey said Durocher would remain the Dodgers' boss until he was definitely in the city. He added that he was on his way to New York as soon as possible.

Dolph Camilli, the Dodgers' first baseman, is expected to be the job, Rickey explaining that while the Camilli situation is unsettled, it is not because he is not a first-class player.

Others Mentioned
Others mentioned for the job were second baseman Billy Herman and pitcher Dizzy Dean.

Pilots Ready For Tourney

OLIVENS PERRY, Feb. 22—The 1943 regulation high school basketball season has come to an end and Coach Gene Cooper's boys posted a record of 14 victories and five defeats over the regulation schedule.

The Cooper lads are now preparing for the sub-district tournament here this week-end, to which they are favored to win at least a share of the championship and the right to be one of the teams from here competing in the district meet at Mendota, March 4, 5 and 6.

The five losses of the River Pilots were to some of the strongest teams in the state. They were defeated by Caldwell and Boise, former Big Six quintets, and Parma, in the west; and they split games with Washington and Hagerman.

The River Pilots tackle the Hagerman squad in the first round of the sub-district here Thursday night. Tournament game schedules are slated for Thursday night, Friday morning and night, Saturday morning and the championship game Saturday night.

Cough Cooper reports that his team is in good condition. He has only one letterman back from last year—Joe Dobson. Only one boy from this year's class will be lost through graduation, Lando Dobson, center. So the River Pilots feel confident they can make the playoffs.

Cooper states that River Pilots are just about as good as a peak in the playoffs. There were no state opportunities in this year's season and only four boys will be lost from the team when the 1943 season rolls around.

Navy Decision Will Not Help

By DAN McGUIRE
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Cold water department: The college officials who avowed with joy when the navy approved participation in intercollegiate athletics for the special trainees it will send back to school are not to have their dreams realized. The navy's approval was qualified by an "if" which leaves them to compete, etc., statement.

Many of the cadets at St. Mary's navy pre-flight school were enthusiastic about joining the Air Devt football squad because it took too much of their time. Competition among the cadets is intense—top men get their preference for advanced training schools and some figured that a couple of hours a day on the gridiron was just a waste of time.

Survives Ship Sinkings
Nevada notes, Sports Editor of the Nevada State Journal reports that Orin (Zack) Bennett, former Nevada U. quarterback and Golden Gloves champion, has survived two ship sinkings.

Bennett, a gun crew member in the U.S. Navy, was on board a merchant vessel when it was torpedoed and again when the President Coolidge was sunk.

Bennett, incidentally, was in a little Nevada March 3-4 when the Nevada Golden Gloves tournament was held. Army, navy and marine posts in that area are expected to supply more than 100 men to the navy.

Heavyweights will be after the title vacated by Doug Lindsay, Richmond, Calif. Negro.

POINTS SET FOR PEAS AND BEANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Dry peas, dry peas, lentils, and dry and dehydrated peas, were added to the program. The rationing program late Saturday, will have relatively low point values.

Although the new foods were added to the ration program unexpectedly, OPA officials said that because of the late date it would not be possible to raise the per person ration allowance of 48 points for March. If the supply situation warrants, an additional allowance for these foods for April may be made.

SERIAL STORY

THE TERRIBLE EYE

BY EDWIN RUTT

NO THROAT CUTTING CHAPTER XIV The waiting model of the Terrible Eye did the job. It came upon the scene, hastily rigged up in the "T" building, a series of pictures. At the end of them, Hildy Channing gasped.

"Jenah," she said, "I'm on my knees. Who would have thought it? But... she stopped suddenly. 'But why did you show me this, Jonah?'

"Because," Jonah said, "I knew it would put you in control of the situation. With what you know now, you can write your own ticket. And you will, just want you to just do—things you want, that's all."

"You're a sweet guy, Jonah," Hildy said softly. "And I'm ever so grateful to you. It does make everything just ducky."

"Everything," said Jonah, in a voice like a chorus mumbled to him, "all on the journey across the days, for everyone except... the day it off."

"Oh, no-thing," said Jonah. The small private race course on the Channing's property was doing business. The crowd was small, but steady. It consisted of members of the Channing family, the house servants, a squad of gardeners, groomers and exercise boys. The only inhabitant of the estate and present was the gatekeeper.

In addition to this distinguished company, there were two other spectators who were not conspicuous. Jonah Logan and Gregory were viewing proceedings from the frayed acclimation of a nearby elm.

Of all the faithful, the crowd at the track there was but one individual who did not appear to be enjoying himself. This was a little man, peering distrustfully at the cheering and the music. He was Mr. Calvin Meggs, still hoping for an 11th hour miracle.

An ominous figure in leather-colored tweed detached itself from the crowd and bore down upon Mr. Meggs. "Well, Calvin," boomed Mr. L. Channing, "I've been looking for you. A disquieting rumor has reached me. Is there any truth in the story that, for unknown reasons, your horse may be scratched?"

Calvin Meggs did the Never-Says-a-Word pout. "No," he said. "No truth," he said stoutly, though inwardly, "I'm glad to hear it." Mr. Channing said jauntily, "Because, Calvin, this race is to be run at 3 o'clock sharp or not at all. I'll grant you postponements, no rainchecks. And I call your attention to the fact that the time is now 2:40."

Mr. Meggs winced. At that point a cry went up. A black horse, led by a small grinning Negro, was approaching the track. Upon his back Mr. Channing gazed like a father upon son.

"Look, Calvin!" he exclaimed rapidly. "Look at Black Moonlight! What horse! What willers! Do you honestly believe in your soul, Calvin, that last caricature of yours could beat him?"

"Any day in the week," said Mr. Meggs steadily. "Including Sunday."

"Then bring him on," Mr. Channing cried. "What are you waiting for?"

Mr. Meggs was waiting for a miracle. He said it. "Mr. Meggs," Mr. Meggs shouted an excited voice from behind. Mr. Meggs wheeled in unison with Mr. Channing. They beheld the gatekeeper hurrying toward them. The gatekeeper was leading a large bay horse. The horse had been newly clipped.

He wandered just the other side of the road, sir," pointed the gatekeeper. "Sir?" "But Mr. Meggs uttered a cry and fell upon the horse, like an end upon a loose ball. "Buphaphus my dear!" And then, suddenly, he recoiled. A bewildered look crossed his face. "That is not my horse," he stated positively.

"Come, come, Calvin," said Mr. Channing, as the crowd collected. "If it isn't your horse, is it? Some one found him, felt sorry for him and clipped him, that's all. Heaven knows he proved it."

"I still insist," Mr. Meggs said, "that this is not Buphaphus."

"What makes you say that?" "I—I don't rightly know," said Mr. Meggs vaguely. "It's his general attitude. His—er—stance."

Mr. Channing made a pouting sound. "Don't be silly, Calvin. You can't prove such a statement. Your horse had no distinguishing marks, had he, except that he looked like a neglected shaver?"

"He had a white left forelock," Mr. Meggs pointed out. "No, this animal, Mr. Calvin, is not what you're up to. You would, of course, prefer that the race be called off, since you have told Bert Hilder, you claim that this—this splendid specimen of horsemanship is yours. Is it, Mr. Calvin? Al—er—gether too thin. He said you have any horse at all and let's get on with it."

"By gad," ejaculated Mr. Meggs, stung. "I don't think it is my horse. But even if I wouldn't be surprised if it could beat that dog of yours at the feedbox."

"I'll," said Mr. Channing. "We shall see. We shall see right away." And he stalked off, waving his arm.

In the privacy of the elm Jonah Logan spoke to Gregory. "Buphaphus," he said, "there's something here that I don't understand."

"Why?" "They're going to the post."

"They were, indeed. The jockeys and for the occasion had mounted and the horses were at the barrier. Black Moonlight stepped around nervously. He was a cat on his feet. But Buphaphus, or his newly-clipped stand-in, waited with stolidity. His tail was the ruin of one who has all night. A few seconds passed. Then:

"They're off!" announced Mr. Channing. It was only a half-truth. Black Moonlight was off. He broke swiftly, picked up speed and seemed to leap toward the turn. Buphaphus, on the other hand, hunched himself a time or two like a decorative setting on a bayonet and then stepped gingerly forward. He seemed to possess all the dust and fire of a bayonet.

There then ensued a furious horse race. By the time Buphaphus reached the turn, Black Moonlight was halfway around. When Black Moonlight reeked into the stretch, Buphaphus was snubbling placidly toward the halfway mark. As Black Moonlight got home in a walk Buphaphus had been provided with a spy-glass, could have seen the stretch. He was a sure thing to finish come Mitchell.

Around Mr. Channing the congratulatory crowd gathered, like umbrellas of mischief. And Mr. Calvin Meggs no one gathered, save Hildy Channing. And Mr. Meggs wrung his hands and gave out pained, choking sounds. He was doing these things when Henry L. Channing, beaming at the head of his legion, confronted him.

"Well, Calvin," said Mr. Channing, in a voice that would have been audible in Peru, "let this be a lesson. Never in the history of the attempt to pit your shaky ill-considered judgment of horsemanship against my certain knowledge that is all I have to say."

Calvin Meggs got off a last strangled blast and trotted away. Hildy Channing stayed right him. Hildy was not a one-day crusade against throat-cutting.

Japanese Saved Potatoes, Says Harper; Raps Contract Rules

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (U.P.)—An account of Negro workers holding "such organs as you have never seen before" was given to a Senate investigating committee today as a series of witnesses assailed the farm security administration's efforts to help meet the nation's food problems.

The witnesses asserted that hardship of canned food rationing may bring home to the nation the seriousness of its food and farm problems.

L. L. Chandler, of Council, Fla., representative of fruit and vegetable growers of nine southern Florida counties, testified that the confiscated property had brought in "riff raff" Negroes from Mississippi and whites from Tennessee "when called on to furnish emergency laborers in Florida."

He asserted that one farm security administration laborer had told him, "to hell with your beans, they're not worth picking." He said he had seen Negroes "chop in for a pint of whiskey" take it back with them and he had drunk between the rows of beans and tomatoes.

Others, he said, are so hungry that they refuse to give up the beans until the employer has promised to give them one-half the price for which the beans are selling in the area.

$2,500 GOAL FOR MINIDOKA DRIVE

RUPERT, Feb. 23.—Rev. Eugene Stump, chairman of Red Cross war work drive committee, today announced a goal of $2,500.

Of this amount, $2,000 will go to the national drive while $500 will remain in the county.

The drive will be conducted for two weeks, beginning March 8, and will be based for volunteer workers and because of a gas rationing war work drive committee, which last year, headquarters will be maintained in the corner room of the Catholic church formerly occupied by Anna's dress shop.

Reports of committee chairman were given at the meeting held in the office of the Christian church, O. W. Paul, service chairman, reported that since Jan. 1 he had handled 25 cases and during the 12 months he had delivered 25 messages to relatives in enemy or enemy-occupied countries.

On production, Mrs. Fred Mott reported that the county chapter had folded 12,000 surplus dresses since that work began in November. The county's quota of 60,000 dresses a month is to be increased by 12,000 on March 15. One hundred pounds of knitted articles have been shipped since Jan. 1.

Mrs. C. A. Jones, chairman of the home nursing program, reported a class with Mrs. Grace Hilder as instructor. Another will open this week in Rupert, supervised by Mrs. Mrs. P. H. Kenney. The county goal is to issue 80 home nursing certificates during July 1, 1942, and June 30, 1943. First aid classes are being organized wherever desired by Dr. A. E. Johnson, county chairman.

Rev. Albert B. Barrett reported that he had arranged with the high school public speaking classes to provide campaign speakers.

Point ratings for the county explained by A. L. Woodhead, W. B. Churchman and William Greving. Mrs. Ole Well sang two numbers, "Bearly Beloved" and "When the Lights Go on Again."

Forty-five members attended. One guest, Mrs. Fred Beer, lecturer of the Twin Falls Pomona Grange, attended.

Grange Gleanings

By J. R. CRAWFORD

J. R. Crawford Reading, Mrs. Grace O'Harrow, gave an interesting talk on the history of the month of February. Mrs. Fred Scott then gave an informative talk on things of interest in the Idaho Grange for the month of February. His sounds like something worthwhile as so many of us take the Grange yet do not get full value from it as we think we are too busy to read the things of interest.

"God Bless America" was sung by the group, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. John Feldman. Following that the lecturer gave a brief summary of the life of Lincoln.

FINED $100
RUPERT, Feb. 23.—Pleading guilty in probate court to a charge of maintaining a liquor nuisance in his pool hall, Jim Templeton, proprietor of the club, was fined $100 and costs of $5.40 imposed by Probate Judge H. A. Boyer. The complaint was signed by Sheriff Fred Abrams.
